Nativity of St. John the Baptist John 1:6-7; Luke 1:17

A man was sent from God, whose name was John.
He came to testify to the light, to prepare a people fit for the Lord.

A note from Marcia

Just stop by and say "thanks." This weekend we celebrate the 26th anniversary of Fr. Spicer's ordination to the priesthood. We are honoring him with a cake, some cards or gifts after the 10:30 Mass and return to our lives among the laity. We are his life. He spent last week with most of the priests in the diocese and the bishop talking about how best they can serve us. No doubt they discussed the pain the Church is experiencing and the pain they experience as representatives of the Church as obedient servants. It is little wonder that there was only one man ordained this year in the archdiocese to join the ranks of our priests.

This is the weekend we have the opportunity to thank our "one." When you read about all the churches which are closing throughout the United States, all the seminaries which have shrunk or closed all together, all those parishes you remember from childhood crawling with priests who now have only one for 1000 people, think about how blessed you are to automatically jump in the car and drive over to church for Mass and someone is there. We know that won't always be true. A church on every corner will become a church in every town and still the Church and her priests will strive to administer the services you need. There has been talk of "bundling" parishes but so far we remain autonomous. Go thank our priest on his ordination day.
